THE COVER FLOWER

C. Hybrid 'Dorothy James'

One of the saluenensis hybrids developed by Vernon James of Aptos, California. It is a beautiful formal pink, with the novelty of a flesh white petal that is tipped with deep rose. Mr. James says that this coloring gives the flower a character that will cause it to be prized as a corsage flower as well as a flowering shrub. He will put it on the market in the fall of 1963.
